

WOMEN BROWN'S IRON BITTERS THE BEST TONIC

This medicine combines iron with pure vegetable bases, and is invaluable for Diseases peculiar to Women, and all who lead sedentary lives. It builds up the system, and restores the blood, stimulates the Appetite, strengthens the Digestion, and cures the Nervous system, and makes the skin smooth. It does not blacken the teeth, cause headache, or produce constipation—all other iron medicines do.

Mrs. ELIZABETH BARNES, 14 Fawcett Ave., Milwaukee, Wis., writes, under date of Dec. 29th, 1884: "I have used Brown's Iron Bitters, and it has been more than a doctor to me. It has cured me of the weakness I have in life. Also cured me of Liver Complaint, and now my complexion is clear and good. Has also been beneficial to my children."

Mrs. LOUISE C. BRADDOCK, East Lockport, N. Y., says: "I have suffered untold misery from Female Complaint, and could obtain relief from nothing except Brown's Iron Bitters."

SOCIETY OF THE RED CROSS

ONE OF THE PROMINENT FEATURES OF THE NATIONAL DRILL

The Objects of This Benevolent and Merciful Association—Dr. Talmage Preaches to Soldiers—Death of Benj. Perley Poore.

Color Line—Washington News: WASHINGTON, May 31.—One of the most notable features of the military encampment which has so engrossed visitors during the week just closed, and one which has achieved an undisputed success, has been the hospital of the Red Cross association. This noble philanthropy, representing the latest and most improved organization for affording relief to the sick and wounded, obtained permission, through its president, Clara Barton, to establish a hospital on the drill grounds, and was fortunate in having secured not only government aid and countenance, but the gratuitous services of the medical director, Dr. J. O. Stanton, and those of the executive officer, Dr. Rose, with a corps of able assistants, many of whom did actual service in the late war.

The work of the Red Cross association is highly benevolent and merciful and does not conflict with any other established charity. Aside from its services during the Franco-Prussian and the Russo-Turkish wars, the Red Cross has received the sanction of numerous prominent officials in this country for its aid afforded to sufferers from the elements and from epidemics, such as those of yellow fever in the south, the great Michigan fires and the destructive floods of the Mississippi valley.

During its establishment of less than a week at Camp George Washington there have been treated at the Red Cross hospital one hundred and forty-five cases. A great many of the visiting militiamen will bear away with them grateful and lasting memories of the efficient and considerate kindness of Clara Barton and her aids of the Red Cross.

The Color Line Again.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—The color line question is reported to have cropped out again in Sunday's National drill exercises. After Dr. Talmage had finished his sermon, and before the battalion dress parade began, the Vicksburg Southrons and the Memphis Zouaves entertained the audience with some clever company manoeuvres. Later on, when the battalions entered the field and formed in line for the parade, these two companies marched off, and it was also noticed that several other companies that had entered just before the Vicksburg and Memphis companies left the field, also followed them out.

Capt. Searles, of the Vicksburg Southrons says that the explanation of this is to be found in the fact that the Washington Cadets (colored) formed part of the Washington battalion; that he purposely took his command off the field and refrained from going in the dress parade because of the presence of the colored company on the field, and that five other southern companies—the Memphis Zouaves, the Lomax Rifles, of Mobile, the two Texas companies and the Louisiana Rifles—after entering the field learning that the colored cadets were to participate in the parade, also marched off.

This, in effect, is the statement in circulation on one side. On the other hand, Gen. Ordway, at headquarters, says there is no truth in it; that these six southern companies, through some misunderstanding, supposed they were to form one battalion for dress parade came on the field for that purpose, but when informed that they were not included in the parade, merely wheeled about and left the field.

Benj. Perley Poore Dead.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Benj. Perley Poore died at the Ebbitt house Sunday morning at 12:45. The body was taken to Boston, accompanied by the widow and two sisters of the deceased, and a deputation of the Loyal Legion and thirty-third degree Masons. The funeral will take place at his ancestral home, Indian Hill, near Newburyport, Mass.

Maj. Poore was born in New York City, November 9th, 1820. When a boy his parents removed to Massachusetts, where he lived until twenty years old. He learned type setting in Worcester, Mass., but afterwards became a correspondent and first came to Washington in that capacity for the Boston Atlas in 1849. Ten years later he took charge of the Boston Journal, burpau here and over the signature of "Perley" gained a national reputation as a Washington journalist. Maj. Poore was the dean of the corps of Washington correspondents, and for more than forty years has been a conspicuous figure in the reporters' galleries at the capital, and at the news centres of this city. He met and knew sixteen presidents, beginning with John Quincy Adams and running down to Cleveland. He saw and spoke familiarly with Webster, Clay, Calhoun, Benton and Marcy, and was a living link connecting the memories of their deeds with the achievements of Charles Sumner, Thad. Stevens, Ben. Wade, Henry Wilson and other distinguished writers of later days.

A Fight For Life.

LANCOST, Neb., May 31.—Constable Jacoby went to Mrs. Glenn's house late Saturday night to notify her that her suit for divorce would be called in court Monday. The husband, Glenn, had meanwhile escaped from jail, and, seeing, the constable's team at his wife's door, began to stone the house. Jacoby drew his revolver and began to fire at Glenn without effect, and then grappled with him. A struggle for life began in the darkness and rain, which did not end until 8 o'clock Sunday morning, when both men fell exhausted about a mile from the house. Jacoby's skull is fractured and he will die. Glenn is badly used up but will recover. One of Glenn's children was hit with a stone, which he threw through the window, and is dying.

Wright on the eve of his departure to London where he will represent the United Press, a handsome gold watch and chain, the former being inscribed with the names of the donors. No Time to Be Vice President.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 31.—Dr. William King, special agent of the revenue department, and father-in-law of Henry W. Grady, of the Atlanta Constitution, was in the city yesterday. Relative to Mr. Grady becoming a candidate for the vice presidency Mr. King said: "Henry has told me, and in a way that I know he means it, that he has no time to be vice president. Although a most industrious worker he has no political aspirations, and would not accept the nomination." Mr. King is firm in the belief that the south will go Democratic in the next presidential contest.

An Old Lady Killed.

CINCINNATI, May 31.—Mrs. Johnson, aged seventy, a widow, who lived with her daughter, Mrs. Witcher, in Madisonville, was walking along the railroad track in that town at 10 a. m., when a west bound passenger train on the C. & W. B. railroad passing at full speed, struck the old lady and knocked her fifteen feet from the track. She was instantly killed, her neck being broken and her skull fractured. Her remains were taken to her daughter's house. An inquest will be held. She is the third person killed in the same way at this point within a year.

Runaway at a Funeral.

PADUCAH, Ky., May 31.—While the funeral procession of the late Dr. W. W. Wilson, a well known New Orleans physician, who was buried here yesterday afternoon, was en route to Mt. Vernon cemetery, a runaway horse in the cortege overturned the hearse containing the body and smashed things up generally. Mrs. Joseph H. Johnson and Mrs. Charles H. Johnson were thrown from a buggy in the confusion and seriously injured. The hearse was totally wrecked and a new one had to be procured before the procession could proceed to the cemetery.

Suit Under the Civil Rights Bill.

ATLANTA, Ga., May 31.—A peculiar suit for damages has been instituted under the civil rights bill against the Central railroad. The complainant is a white man, Col. J. N. Hale, of Henry county, who is aggrieved because he was not allowed to ride on the "Jim Crow car," as the coaches set aside for negroes is called. He claimed that his ticket entitled him to ride anywhere on the train. The conductor, Mr. Reneau, did not take this view of the case and had Col. Hale ejected from the train. For this indignity Col. Hale claims $2,500.

A Book Agent Killed in Texas.

CORPUS, TEX., May 31.—A book agent, A. G. Hill, representing a Cincinnati firm, called at the home of Mr. Terri, about fifteen miles east of this place, Saturday. Finding no one at home but Mr. Terri's daughter, the book agent entered the house without invitation and, it is said, grossly insulted the young woman. She ordered him from the house and went immediately to a field and informed her father. The father got his shotgun, followed the agent, overtaking him at the next farm, and shot and killed him.

Two Fires at Akron.

AKRON, O., May 31.—The beautiful residence of Lewis Miller, the well known mower and reaper manufacturer and president of Chautauqua assembly, caught fire by the explosion of gasoline the painters were using. The building was saved, but the contents were damaged several thousand dollars by smoke and water. Mr. Miller is the father-in-law of Edison, the inventor.

The Akron Sunday Gazette office was badly gutted by an incendiary fire early this morning. Loss $1,500; insured.

Dr. Talmage Preaches to the Soldiers.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Dr. T. De Witt Talmage, of Brooklyn, spoke in front of the grand stand in the drill grounds yesterday to an audience of 20,000. Soldiers from thirty-one states, the governors and their staffs from nineteen states, and a greater part of Washington were in attendance. Despite the vastness of the audience the preacher's magnificent voice reached all, and the sermon was perfectly intelligible—something wonderful for so large an outdoor meeting. The sermon was peculiarly applicable to the nature of the congregation. It was taken from I. Chronicles xii, 23: "Fifty thousand which could keep rank," and Judges xx, 15: "Every one could sling stones at a hairbreadth and not miss." The service was a great success in every particular. Talmage was at his best and pleased all his hearers. An admission of twenty-five and fifty cents was charged.

FLOWERS FOR THE DEAD.

HOW MEMORIAL DAY WAS OBSERVED IN MAY PLACES.

Unusual Observance of the Day and Custom—The Graves of Grant and McClellan Not Forgotten—Monument Unveiled at Kankakee, Ill.—Other Events.

NEW YORK, May 30.—The decoration of Gen. Grant's tomb to-day was witnessed by a gathering of several thousand people. The proceedings were under the auspices of U. S. Grant Post #34, of Brooklyn, assisted by E. D. Morgan Post and Alexander Hamilton Post, of New York. The exercises included the memorial service from the Grand Army ritual and an oration by Rev. John Riley Thompson, of Brooklyn. Dudley Buck's "In Memoriam" and other selections were rendered by the Apollo club, of Brooklyn.

The floral designs numbered several hundreds, among the prominent contributors being the vicerey of China and the Chinese minister, the commander of the Loyal Legion, Grand Army posts in Philadelphia, Montana, Chicago, Melrose, Massachusetts, Virginia, and other cities, while numerous private citizens were represented by fragrant offerings.

The streets in the lower part of the city were deserted and there was a general suspension of business. All the public buildings were closed. The postoffice was open until 10 o'clock. There was one mail delivery. The custom house was open for an hour. The streets in the vicinity of Union Square and Madison Square were crowded with pedestrians. A large number of people went to Riverside Park and Gen. Grant's tomb. Thousands of people came from New Jersey and Brooklyn to witness the parade.

How Observed at Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, May 30.—Decoration of the soldiers' graves was performed to-day with much the same ceremonies as are usual. There were the parade and assemblage at Spring Grove cemetery, the strewing of the flowers and the tears for those heroes long placed under the sod. This has been made a National holiday, and all the courts and public offices, both of the city, county and the United States, were closed, as were the chamber of commerce and board of trade; but on the streets and in the stores and factories there seemed to be a general disregard of it, and the crush of business seemed almost as any other day.

In all there were over five hundred persons in the procession. The streets were thronged along the line of march, and much patriotism was displayed.

During the morning's pleasant hours thousands went to Spring Grove cemetery to attend the decoration ceremonies. Everybody carried flowers. The ladies' relief committee carried more than anybody else. By every train and street car crowds were discharged on the grounds. Every suburb and country village for miles around furnished its quota, and from Cincinnati there was an outpouring. Ladies in spring costumes, girls in white, gentlemen and boys in holiday attire early scattered over the beautiful cemetery. Little flags were thickly dotted about upon the lots where the brave lay in their long sleep. Everything indicated a memorable and imposing occasion, but just as the paraders arrived from Cincinnati, about 10:30 a. m., it began to rain, and kept it up so persistently that most of the ceremonies were abandoned.

The bust of Col. and ex-Mayor Robert M. Moore was formally unveiled, and flowers were strewn upon the graves hastily. Everybody, as soon as possible with due regard for propriety, left the grounds and went home. The orations, speeches, music and slow ceremonies were entirely omitted. Last summer the ceremonies were interrupted in a similar way.

Fully 15,000 persons passed through this cemetery gates during the morning.

At Chicago.

CHICAGO, May 30.—The observance of Decoration Day is very general. The graves at Rose Hill, Graceland, Calvary, Forest Home, Waldham and other cemeteries were decorated this morning by Grand Army posts especially assigned to the different localities. At Oakwoods there were special services and an oration was delivered by Congressman W. E. Mason. This afternoon there was a grand parade of Grand Army posts, militia and civic organizations. Lieutenant Governor J. G. Smith being chief marshal. The parade was reviewed by the mayor and members of the city council from the south portico of the exposition building.

The monument erected in the cemetery of St. Boniface to the memory of the German soldiers of Cook county, who fell in the war was formally unveiled to-day with appropriate ceremonies, in the presence of over ten thousand spectators. The monument has been reared under the auspices of the St. Boniface Union Soldiers' Memorial association, an organization of German-Americans, its cost being nearly $5,000, all of which was contributed in small sums by surviving veterans as a tribute to the memory of their comrades. The ceremonies were preceded by a long procession, which formed in line at Fifth avenue and Washington street, and included the Catholic Knights, Knights of St. George, German Catholic Knights of America, German Soldiers of the Fatherland, German-American Veteran association, two regiments of Illinois volunteers and several posts of the Grand Army.

At McClellan's Grave.

TRENTON, N. J., May 30.—The grave of Gen. George B. McClellan was decorated to-day by the McClellan Memorial association, the Hancock Veteran association and the James Page Library association, all of Philadelphia. The delegations, escorted by Gen. Robert Patterson Post, G. A. R., were met on their arrival by Aaron Wilkes Post #21 and a deputation of citizens, and the united ranks proceeded to the grave of the ex-soldier and governor. Here the labor of love was performed, the floral offerings being numerous and of exquisite design. Addresses were delivered by Hon. John Welsh, Gen. Joshua T. Owens, Maj. Moses Veale and Gen. W. V. Burns, U. S. A. This afternoon the veterans were the guests of Aaron Wilkes Post and the Trenton citizens at a banquet.

Milwaukee Honors Them.

MILWAUKEE, May 30.—Decoration Day is being observed here with more than usual ceremony. The grave of the soldier dead in all the cemeteries were decorated this morning by committees appointed for the purpose. This afternoon there was a street parade of the Grand Army, city organizations, Fourth battalion light horse squadron, light battery, and a large number of civic associations. After moving through the principal streets the participants took a special train to the soldiers' home, where appropriate services were held.

Memorial Day in Brooklyn.

NEW YORK, May 30.—Dr. McGlynn delivered an eloquent address at the memorial services of Gen. Thomas S. Dakin Post, G. A. R., at Cypress Hill cemetery, Brooklyn. He was introduced by Mayor Whitney and received with great applause. He spoke tenderly of the dead soldiers whose graves were around him, saying: "They earn God's best rewards who forget their selfish interests to fight for the right." An ex-Confederate officer, Rev. T. V. Robertson, and a Union veteran, Rev. Walter Elliott, conducted a memorial service at the church of St. Paul, the Apostle, this city. There was a very general decoration of soldiers' graves in Brooklyn. Many prominent clergymen delivered addresses. The decoration of the Lincoln monument at the Prospect park plaza drew the largest crowd. A number of G. A. R. posts in this city also decorated the graves of fallen comrades.

Monument Unveiled.

KANKAKEE, Ill., May 30.—The soldiers' monument was unveiled here to-day with the ceremony usual to such an occasion. Hon. Robert T. Lincoln was the orator of the day.

Governor Hill's Silence.

NEW YORK, May 31.—Governor Hill, who is in town to attend Decoration Day services, was besieged by reporters, but refused to say anything in connection with President Cleveland's coming visit to Albany to dine with him, as to what action he would take in reference to ex-Senator Platt's case. It is generally understood, however, that he will prefer charges against Commissioner Platt which will secure his suspension, and that a Republican will be appointed in his place. The Republican who succeeds him will not, however, be Col. Fred. Grant. Sunday morning Governor Hill attended solemn high mass at St. Patrick's cathedral. Archbishop Corrigan was the celebrant.

Asking a Receiver.

RICHMOND, Ind., May 31.—Burchenal & Rupe, attorneys for Jesse P. Fulgum and Arthur M. Reeves, stockholder, and Isaac Kinzie, creditor, of the Wayne Agricultural company, have filed a report for a receiver and the court appointed Thaddeus Wright, who had been secretary and treasurer since 1874, with bonds of $150,000. James E. Reeves, president of the First National bank; Jesse Cates, president of the Union National bank, and Isaac Kinzie are the sureties.

An Explanation Made.

OTTAWA, May 31.—In view of the comment that has been raised over the refusal of Mr. Hotchkiss, the American consul here, to loan American flags for the O'Brien demonstration, Mr. Hotchkiss has laid the whole affair before the authorities at Washington. He states that he did not consider the flags of the United States consulate were to be kept for party demonstrations, and in refusing to loan them for the O'Brien reception he says he exercised his judgment.

An Indian-Miner Fight.

PORT TOWNSEND, W. T., May 31.—The steamer Ancon arrived yesterday from Alaska and reports that a miner had arrived from Yukon county, who said that Indians and miners had engaged in fight in the interior, in which one white man was killed and five wounded, and five Indians killed and several wounded. There is no news as to the cause of the disturbance, but it is supposed the miners interfered with the mines of the Indians.

Killed Him Sure.

EMINENCE, Ky., May 31.—Report comes from Harper's Ferry, this county, that Thomas Brewer approached one Downey while plowing and fired the contents of a shotgun into his right breast. He then knocked Downey's brains out with the butt of the gun, and to make sure of his work thrust the gun-barrel through the dead man's body. Brewer then gave himself up. They married sisters, and jealousy is the supposed cause.

Will Boycott a Cathedral.

NEW YORK, May 31.—Labor men are dissatisfied because the contractor for finishing the towers of the Catholic cathedral imported not only the marble but his men from Baltimore. A committee has written Archbishop Corrigan about it, but they have received no response. To-day the committee laid the matter before the Central labor union. A boycott against the cathedral is threatened.

Scuffle in a Cemetery.

PARIS, May 31.—A scuffle between the police and a number of communists took place at Pere La Chaise cemetery yesterday. The disturbers were easily routed. Five arrests were made. The affair grew out of seditious utterances by the communists, who were decorating the graves of their comrades who were executed for complicity in the atrocities of May, 1871.

To Be Court Martialled.

LONDON, May 31.—Hunbasel Bunsaway, who was with Gordon at Khartoum, is to be tried by court martial at Cairo to-morrow on the charge of corresponding with El Mahdi and conspiring with Farq, the commander of the regiment guarding the gate, by whose treachery the Arabs gained entrance to Khartoum and slew Gen. Gordon.

Walked Through a Window Asleep.

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind., May 31.—Nannie Lutz, aged seventeen, at 2 o'clock this morning, while in a state of somnambulism, jumped out of the second story window of her parents' residence on Front street, striking on a stone wall, and then fell to the sidewalk, where she was found unconscious. Her injuries may result fatally. Miss Lutz is a step-daughter of the Hon. James K. Marsh.

The last Court of Claims of Fayette County appropriated over $20,000 for turnpikes and bridges.

It cost Fayette County $2,500 to re-index the Circuit Court records and place them in first-class order.

The Prohibitionists of Bracken County held a convention yesterday to nominate a candidate for the Legislature.

MAYOR DONIPHAN, of Augusta, was nominated yesterday for the Legislature by the Prohibitionists of Bracken County.

It seems that Colonel Bradley is still engaged in an effort to manage the campaign this year for Kentucky Democrats.

The city tax levy at Frankfort this year is $1.25 on the $100, and the assessed value of property amounts to $2,377,229, yielding a tax of over $30,000.

The Union Labor leaders and Colonel Bradley are pulling together in the present campaign, but the Democrats will knock them all out in August.

Let every politician and candidate explain this constitutional convention business to his friends and followers and urge them all to vote for the matter next August.

KENTUCKY "took the cake" last month on the manufacture of whisky. There were one hundred and sixty-six distilleries running, and the daily out-put was 105,526 gallons.

The postmaster at Carlisle gets a salary of $1,000 a year. That office is the last to be filled in this State by Presidential appointment, and there is rejoicing among Democrats.

HERE, you Republicans, how is this? Kentucky State Bonds are quoted above par. Ohio has to sell State bonds at a discount to put some money in the empty treasury. Let Mr. O'Bradley take the stand.—Louisville Times.

The Democratic primary election Saturday in Bracken County resulted in the nomination of Joseph Walton, of Germantown, for the Legislature, by seventy-five or one hundred majority. Not much interest was manifested, and a light vote was polled.

FRANKLIN County will vote, July 6th, on a proposition to subscribe $150,000 to the Frankfort, Georgetown and Paris railroad, $100,000 to be paid when the road is built from Frankfort to Georgetown, and $50,000 when completed to Paris. It is thought the proposition will carry.

THE Louisville Commercial says of Colonel Bradley, the Republican nominee for Governor: "He always talks well, but when his speech is put into cold type the weak places in his argument are more easily seen. His attempt to make capital out of the present revenue law is done at the expense of fair dealing."

HON. W. H. WADSWORTH, the famous lawyer and Ex-Congressman from Maysville, Ky., who was taken with a severe attack of heart disease while arguing a case in court at Minneapolis last week, is well-known in Louisville among the members of the bar, and it is sincerely hoped he may recover from his alarming illness. He is not only one of the best lawyers, but one of the most accomplished men in Kentucky, and has a fine, polished mind. It will be remembered that he was a leading counsel for the prosecution in the celebrated Green-Harris libel suit, the largest trial in the legal history of the State. Although he lost the case, he won the admiration of the attorneys on both sides by his skill and ability.—Louisville Post.

HERE's a paragraph from the Louisville Times to show what Kentucky is coming to under Democratic rule:

Why not put our judgeships up at public auction, so that the money realized therefrom may go into the common fund?—Daily Republican.

The above is a weak and silly effort of the Republican to prejudice the people against the Democratic party. The editor of the Republican knew when he copied the above that vote-buying and vote-selling is no worse in States where Democrats rule than it is in States where Republicans rule.

The Republican should show just how the Democratic officials at Frankfort are responsible for the corruption in judicial elections at Louisville, or anywhere else in the State.

And then when it comes to buying and selling votes, the Republican knows well enough that its party does as much of it as any other party.

COLONEL BRADLEY, Republican, nominee for Governor, wants to be careful how he manages his campaign, or the people of Kentucky will set him down as a trickster. His opening speech was made at Somerset the other day, and the affair was advertised by the following circular:

"Political speaking at Somerset, Ky., Monday, May 23. Hon. W. O. Bradley and General Simon Bolivar Buckner, candidate for Governor, will address the citizens of Pulaski at the court-house in Somerset, at 1 o'clock p.m. Monday, May 22. Ladies invited."

The Democrat feels called on to make a few sensible and altogether appropriate remarks concerning this circular. It says: "Mr. Bradley knew that General Buckner would not be able to be at Somerset on the same day the committee met at Lexington; and to allow his friends to foist a poster of the above class on the public, to say the least, a little out of the way of a high-toned gentleman. If his friends acted without his knowledge or consent, they should publicly acknowledge that they prevailed for the sake of getting up a crowd to hear their candidate, upon whose merits alone they could not rely to draw a respectable audience. They should, at least, give their authority for making such an announcement."

The suspension of the Maysville Eagle recalls the career of its editor, Colonel Thomas M. Green, who shot like a meteor across the political firmament of Kentucky more than thirty years ago, before he attained his majority. In 1856 he made a remarkable canvass of Southern Kentucky in advocacy of native Americanism, or Know-nothingism, and in the interest of Millard Fillmore, who was the American candidate for President. Green was then a boy, but his eloquence, his knowledge of political history, his courage, and his audacity were the admiration of his friends, who regarded him as an admirable Crichton.

He met in joint discussion many Democratic politicians, and generally came off victor. It was said that George D. Prentice wrote the speeches that he delivered, but Green's subsequent career evidences that it was a slander.

The Eagle was an able and often brilliant journal, and but for the vagaries of its editor would have been a power in the land. Its suspension will occasion several sighs of relief in the bosoms of several Eastern Kentucky politicians.—Louisville Times.

"The Slough of Despondency" in which you are wallowing, on account of some of those diseases peculiar to you, Madame, and which have robbed you of the rosy hue of health, and made life a burden to you, you can easily get out of. Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription" will free you from all such troubles, and soon recall the rose-tint of health to your cheek, and the elasticity to your step. It is a most perfect specific for all the weakness and irregularities peculiar to your sex. It cures ulceration, displacements, "internal fever," bearing-down sensations, removes the tendency to cancerous affections, and corrects all unnatural discharges. By druggists.

The Verdict Unanimous.

W. D. Suit, Druggist, Bippus, Ind., testifies: "I can recommend Electric Bitters as the very best remedy. Every bottle sold has given relief in every case. One man took six bottles and was cured of rheumatism of ten years' standing." Abraham Hare, druggist, Bellville, Ohio, affirms: "The best selling medicine I have ever handled in my twenty years' experience is Electric Bitters." Thousands of others have added their testimony, so that the verdict is unanimous that Electric Bitters do cure all diseases of the liver, kidneys or blood. Only half a dollar a bottle at J. C. Pecor & Co.'s and S. P. Campbell & Co.'s, Aberdeen, O.

Excitement in Texas.

Great excitement has been caused in the vicinity of Paris, Tex., by the remarkable recovery of Mr. J. E. Corley, who was so helpless he could not turn in bed, or raise his head; everybody said he was dying of consumption. A trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery was sent him. Finding relief, he bought a large bottle and a box of Dr. King's New Life Pills; by the time he had taken two boxes of pills and two bottles of the Discovery, he was well and had gained in flesh thirty-six pounds. Trial bottles of this great Discovery for consumption free at J. C. Pecor & Co.'s and S. P. Campbell & Co.'s, Aberdeen, O.

IN MEMORIAM.

Charles Gilmore Yago was drowned at Covington, Ky., May 14, 1887, aged fifteen years. May he rest in peace.

Bright youth's sweet promises unfulfilled—
 The waves sweep over life's sunlit way;
 The ruthless river still sings its song,
 Tho' a household joy it hath quenched for aye.

Eternal rest unto him, O, Lord!
 His heart was honest, his spirit brave,
 Out of the depths and souls bowed down
 To thy fathomless will, sweet mercy crave.

O, hearts in agony, listen to God,
 He hears, tho' He smite you, the desolate cry,
 He leads you, hnt gently, the self same way
 He led His mother to see Him die.

Watch for a ray from His face divine,
 Twill come, a bright herald of hope and love,
 Twill bring sweet faith to open the way
 That peace may enter—the deathless dove.

Why should ye mourn him? He knew no care,
 Why should ye mourn him? He gave no pain.
 Only of love was his short glad day,
 In joy eternal he lives again.

Strew bright fresh roses, he died so young,
 'Tis well, but see how they fade away;
 Bring prayer, sweet prayer, with your crown
 Of woe,
 To Christ whose promises ne'er decay.

SHANNON.

It was a beautiful, impressive and touching service with which the tender form of little Willie Suit was laid to rest in Shannon cemetery on Sunday last. Elder Hall, of Newport, administered words of comfort and cheer to the bereaved parents, founding his remarks on the First Epistle of Peter, third verse. Willie's little school mates, boys of near his own age, were his pall bearers, and the dear little girls of the village whom he loved so well brought wreaths of roses and bore them in advance of the procession. Willie Walter Suit was in his ninth year, and was the oldest son of W. T. and Lizzie Suit. He died from sequel of scarlet fever. His parents have the sympathy of the entire community. The readings, prayer and sermon were interspersed with inspiring songs of sweet melody, given by Miss Nannia Bland, with organ accompaniment.

 FARMERS' LOAN AND TRUST CO.

This well-known and prosperous company, organized under the laws of the State of New York, having secured a large and rapidly increasing membership, furnishes each member with guaranteed life insurance at cost, has resolved to adopt a new and special feature that has not yet been adopted by any Life Insurance Company in this country. This feature consists of classifying in one section all members who are from the use of intoxicating beverages. In England there are several Life Insurance Companies that make a specialty of insuring the lives of total abstainers, and their experience demonstrates the fact that among Total Abstainers than it is among any other class of persons insured. The experience of the United Kingdom Temperance and General Provident Institution of England, extending over a period of forty-five years, shows

The Rate of Mortality IS ONE-THIRD LESS

AN ADVANTAGE IN FAVOR OF TOTAL ABSTAINERS OF 33 PER CENT.

In the rate of mortality. Other companies have experienced similar results. The NATIONAL BENEFIT SOCIETY has determined to give to the total abstainers of this country an opportunity to secure to themselves the full benefits of the total abstinence principles, so far as they affect the matter of Life Insurance. They have therefore formed a into which all the total abstainers will be grouped. All accounts will be kept distinct from the general business of the Company, and the members in the temperance section will be assessed to pay only the losses that occur in that section. By this arrangement the total abstainers have the full benefit of the lower rate of mortality experienced among the temperance men; this being, as shown by experience, one-third less than it is among the average persons insured.

THE COST OF INSURANCE WILL BE ONE-THIRD LESS, and thus a practical illustration is given of the immense advantage accruing to those who lead a strictly temperate life.

This company also does a

General Life Insurance

business in addition to this temperance section. m25diw-187w

A CINCINNATI woman fired a pistol at a burglar the other night while he was engaged in an attempt to open the front door of her house. To show how good a shot she was, we are told that the ball passed through the second-story window of her neighbor's across the street, and lodged in the head-board of their bed. What a narrow escape—for the neighbors.

BUT little work has yet been done on the railroad bridge at Crooked Creek, about eight miles above here. It is one of the worst places to build along the route. Over three hundred piles will be required for the foundation, and the driving of these will be a six or seven weeks' job. Mr. Landolph, who drove the piles along Front street, has the contract. The force of hands engaged on the excavations was increased yesterday, and we understand that the work will be pushed night and day.

AT the home of David White, a few miles from this city, there is a little bird, of the wren species, that has a record hard to beat. John Tucker informs us that the bird has built her nest in the same place for four years now, hatching two broods, of seven each, each year. The nest is built in an old fruit can on a shelf in an out-house. This year the bird has beaten all previous records, and has been setting for some time on twenty-five eggs, which our informant claims is all of her own laying.

TRouble on the Sherlock. When the excursion steamer Thomas Sherlock left Cincinnati Sunday morning there were thirteen hundred passengers on board. The Enquirer says "the three-shell men and robbers and thugs of their like were well-represented. All went well until the boat got several miles up the river. Beer was sold freely on board, and the result may be readily surmised. A gang of drunken loafers terrorized the more respectable passengers, until at one time it appeared as if the gang would take possession of the steamer. The crowd was so tough that many got off when the boat touched at New Richmond, and returned by another steamer. No one is known to have been seriously hurt, although a number of "scrapes" occurred."

IT took all day to make the trip to this city, and the return trip to Cincinnati was as slow and tedious, the boat arriving at that place about 4 o'clock Monday morning. Cincinnati people are hard up for pleasure and recreation when they take such a trip.

Our Shannon correspondent says: "Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of last week were good tobacco-setting days. Most all the growers set from one to five acres. Patrick Ryan of the North Fork neighborhood setting ten acres in one day, employing twenty hands, all Ryans—his own and his brother Tim's children. There will be a 50 per cent. reduction in the planting this season. Great scarcity of plants."

The LaRue Brothers, of Blue Lick Springs, have prized about 90,000 pounds of tobacco, and have about as much more to come in. They are not only busy prizing tobacco, but are brushing up and getting ready for the June hotel visitors.

The Styles Brothers, of Sardis, have bought 250 hogheads of tobacco for J. P. Garvey, of Cincinnati.

Joe Wallingford, of Mt. Gilead, has sold his crop of about 12,000 pounds of tobacco to Cole & Dixon, of Orangeburg, at 7 cents from the ground up.

All Quiet at Comer's Camp. Quiet has been restored at Comer's Camp, opposite New Richmond, and work on the railroad is moving along as usual.

Overseer Marshall was still living last evening. He was better, and is improving. His recovery, however, is still very doubtful. The negro convict, Hawk Horton, who was shot through the head, was also better last evening. More than an ounce of his brains is said to have oozed from his wounds.

Sunday evening at 3 o'clock sharp, the George Bailey Post, of this place, Joseph Heiser Post, of Maysville, and Sons of Veterans left their hall and marched to the Baptist Church, where the Rev. Jackson delivered the memorial sermon, which was a masterpiece of eloquence, and was received with much appreciation. The music furnished by the choir was excellent in all respects. On Monday morning, Decoration Day, the Post and Sons of Veterans, after short services at the M. E. Church, marched to the cemetery and there, after short but appropriate services, proceeded to decorate the resting places of their fallen comrades. A just tribute to those who sacrificed home and life for their country's sake. Requiescat in pace.

ANTI-POVERTY SOCIETY.

HUNDREDS TURNED AWAY FROM THE ACADEMY OF MUSIC.

Dr. McGlynn Was the Chief Speaker on the Occasion—Flowers for the Popular Divine—Extracts of His Address Which Were Enthusiastically Received.

New York, May 31.—There was such a large attendance at the meeting of the Anti-Poverty society last night at the Academy of Music that hundreds were turned away unable to get admission to the building. Every seat in the vast auditorium was filled. John McMackin presided. Henry George and James Redpath were among those on the platform. Dr. McGlynn, president of the society, was the chief speaker of the evening. His appearance while Mr. McMackin was speaking caused such an outburst of applause that the chairman had to bring his remarks to a close and introduce the popular divine.

The audience rose and cheered vociferously and waved handkerchiefs in greeting. The demonstration lasted several moments. Two little girls walked upon the stage and presented Dr. McGlynn with flowers, and a large floral anchor which was brought forward from among the audience and placed in front of the stage. When Dr. McGlynn could make himself heard he began his address, in the course of which he said: "It is a glorious thing to be permitted to justify the ways of God to man, to hear the sermons of God; to forget ourselves, to suffer, to fight, to die for justice. There is a fierce delight in the strife, and dying for justice becomes a thing of joy."

In another part of the lecture he said: "It is a mistaken idea of religion that we should exalt the spiritual nature of man to such an extent as to ignore his material traits. Teaching man how he can obtain bread would not be of itself sufficient to enlist enthusiasm, nor worth the sacrifices it perhaps shall cost. But when we see that on the question of obtaining bread life questions of eternal justice, then we are ready to preach, if not from Christian pulpits, from the stages of theaters, in the market place, from the back by the seashore or from the tail of a cart, the great spiritual truths underlying this labor question. [Great applause.] These places were not unworthy of them if they had been worthy of the Savior."

Dr. McGlynn declared that in the name of sweet religion sanction was being given to an unpardonable crime—the giving to a few of that which God created for all, and was claimed that a title founded on a hundred or two hundred years possession was a better title than the right of eternal justice. The speaker apologized for referring to his personal affairs. He said he had no quarrel with the spiritual dogmas of the Holy Catholic church, and on this holy Whit Sunday morning he had knelt before an humble Catholic altar, and he hoped not unworthily partook of the sacrament. So little did he fear that the gospel of the new crusade contradicted Christ's precepts that he had prayed that God might send His Holy Spirit down to enable him to preach it for the comfort and edification of God's children. Dr. McGlynn indicated by many remarks in the course of his address that he had no idea of abandoning the doctrine that private property in land is wrong and is a chief cause of human misery.

Pleuro-Pneumonia Scare.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., May 31.—The steamer Rainbow, from Louisville, yesterday brought down a shipment of about five hundred cattle consigned to Evansville buyers. When the boat arrived at this city considerable difficulty was experienced in getting the cattle up the levee, and three head died before reaching the street. Dr. Fleming, a veterinary surgeon, was sent for, and after making a careful examination pronounced the trouble pleuro-pneumonia. The cattle had been confined near the boiler and became overheated. When they arrived here the drove rushed into the water and drank quantities of it. This was assigned as the cause of the disease. The humane society has telegraphed the facts to Chicago, where the surviving cattle were sent, and asked that an examination be made on their arrival. There is a strict quarantine in Chicago now, and the matter will receive prompt attention.

The Knights of the Switch.

WINCHESTER, O., May 31.—The Knights of the Switch, the terrors of Jefferson township, of this Adams county, have again come to the front. Since the raid on the disreputable house near Westerville several weeks ago, in which one of their number was killed, the knights have been quiet. This morning, however, at Waynesville, the knights left evidence that they were still ready for their deeds of outlawry. James Newman, a merchant of Waynesville, on going to his store found a notice tacked on the shutter threatening him with a whipping if he sold a certain piece of property to parties objectionable to the knights. Mr. Newman says he has no fears of the gang, and will sell his property to whom he pleases. Serious trouble is anticipated, as the knights have generally carried their threats into effect.

The Dunkards in Session.

EATON, O., May 31.—The National annual conference of the German Baptist, better known as Dunkard or Tunker, church, began its session yesterday on the farm of Joseph Furray, four miles southeast of here. The conference is being held in a barn. The attendance yesterday was very large, at least 10,000 people being on the grounds viewing the peculiar tenets of these people. Their form of worship is very crude and simple, and consists in eating soup, washing feet and kissing, the men kissing one another and the women doing the same.

Counterfeit Dies Found.

GALENA, Ill., May 31.—Saturday, in the town of Council Hill, in this county, a farmer while tearing down an old rock fence found a tin box which was found to contain dies for counterfeiting five, ten and twenty-five cent pieces, and other appliances for carrying on counterfeiting by the wholesale. The dies have been examined by experts, who give it as their opinion that the most experienced hands at the business must have made them. No clue to the operators have been discovered.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 31.—Charles Mowwe, aged fifteen, and Joseph Biehler, aged twenty-two, started boating yesterday morning, when their skiff struck a pier of the Ninth street bridge, over White river, and both were drowned. Mowwe's body was recovered, but a day's dragging has failed to find that of Biehler.
